

Barre3 Is Hosting a Ton of Free Pop-Up Classes This Summer

We are so here for all the free barre around Philly.

by CAROLINE CUNNINGHAM 5/30/2018, 1:10 p.m.

Barre3's pop-up class at The Logan. Photograph courtesy The Logan.

Summertime in Philadelphia is truly wonderful. Not only do we suddenly have a lot of reasons to snack on frozen treats like açaí bowls and water ice, but we've got an actual flood of free workouts to keep us moving. From free outdoor yoga to free group runs, the only thing you have to wonder is which sweat session to try next.

This week, we suggest you give Barre3 a whirl. The popular Rittenhouse barre studio is popping up at The Logan hotel by Logan Square for a free summer class series. On May 31, June 14, June 28, July 12, July 19, August 7, August 21, and September 6, you can visit the hotel for a free hour-long barre workout. Score!

For this series, registration starts at 6 p.m. (you can reserve a spot on Eventbrite), then the class will kick off at 6:15 p.m. If there's good weather, you can plan on sweating it out in the hotel's grassy courtyard. On rainy days, the classes will move indoors to the hotel ballroom. Either way, just make sure to bring your yoga mat and water bottle.

But that's not all the free Barre3 going down this summer. The studio is also popping up at the Courtyard at Commerce Square, around the large fountain. There, you'll be able to partake in a 45-minute Barre3 sesh on June 7, June 21, August 9, August 16, and August 23. These classes are all weather-dependent — so let's all hope for sunshine!

The Commerce Square pop-up classes will all begin at 5:45 p.m., with registration at 5:30 p.m. You can reserve a spot on Eventbrite, and, as usual, remember to bring a water bottle and yoga mat with you.

Here's to a summer filled with Barre3!